The Robert R. Muntz Library Research Month Newsletter

APRIL 2019 | VOL. 1

RESEARCH READER

THIS WEEK
April 1 | What if there was no Library?
April 2 | Liaison Librarians & Office of Digital Learning Support Specialists visit to Longview University Center
April 3 | Workshop: Excel Episode II - The Data Strikes Back
April 4 | Grad School 180
April 5-6 | Great Plains Honors Conference

WEEKLY
Research Reader Newsletter - check your email!
Breadcrumbs Hunt & prize - watch for details on social media!

DAILY
Research Tips - Collect one each day; the first 22 people to turn in all 22 tips to the Library on May 1st win a prize!
'ARE YOU WRITING?'
A NEW SERIES ON SCHOLARLY PRODUCTIVITY

Written by Rebecca Schuman

This advice column, published in 'The Chronicle of Higher Education', will be featured in each Volume of the Research Reader. The author - Rebecca Schuman - offers suggestions on how to write better, develop scholarly habits that will not interfere with life, and set appropriate productivity goals.

This week's column is the first of the series, published on October 2, 2018. The column may be accessed with the following link:
https://www.chronicle.com/article/A-New-Series-on-Scholarly/244689

HAVE YOU HEARD?

The F1000 Suite includes a research database, an open research publishing platform, and a citation management tool! Contact a Librarian to learn how it can support your research process!

More information on the F1000 Suite may be found at the following link:
https://libguides.uttler.edu/facultyresources

Research is not meant to be intimidating - it will be messy, painstaking, and mistakes will happen. But that's why the library exists: a community of researchers supporting each other through the process.

Sarah Norrell
Business & Social Sciences Librarian